Start from a minimum value of k, and calculate the total variation with the k to k-1 cluster. And increase the value from k to k+1 and calculate total variation for each value for each k with the previous k-1. When there is a large reduction starting in variation at whichever k. That is our final k.